I just wanted to reach out and personally thank so many there at Hospice, who took such care of my dad, Arval Duxreide, and the ongoing care of my mother, Bernice.

People can say they are just doing their job, but it takes very special people to take care of the elderly and dying with such tenderness, respect and caring, shown by so many of the staff.

Many Scott lifted my parents up by patiently listening and sharing stories of times past.

Jenn and Joey were our rocks, responding to countless texts and questions, and providing top notch nursing care. Tanya was a bright spot and put up with constant flirting with a laugh and a wink.

On daddy's last night, Laura was so tender and sweet and gently explained what his journey would be.

There are others, including the volunteers' calls on thure day, that should be recognized as well but don't have names.

Again my thanks for a job well done and holding our hands in yours.
Love, Jim Buchanan
